MIZPAH — 1963

Published by the Annual Staff

Mount Gilead, Ohio
Volume XLVIII

Foreword

Reflections enable us to relive the past. The pictures in this volume will reflect many of the events which will forever live in our hearts—especially in the hearts of the Seniors. Whether a senior or a child just beginning school life, we trust that the memories we have captured in this 1963 MIZPAH are happy ones.

As we reminisce, countless reflections from the past year linger in our minds, old and oft-forgotten reflections which still warmly fill a place in our hearts: a building, our friends, our teachers, the athletic events, hours of study, fun and laughter . . . the list grows and grows.

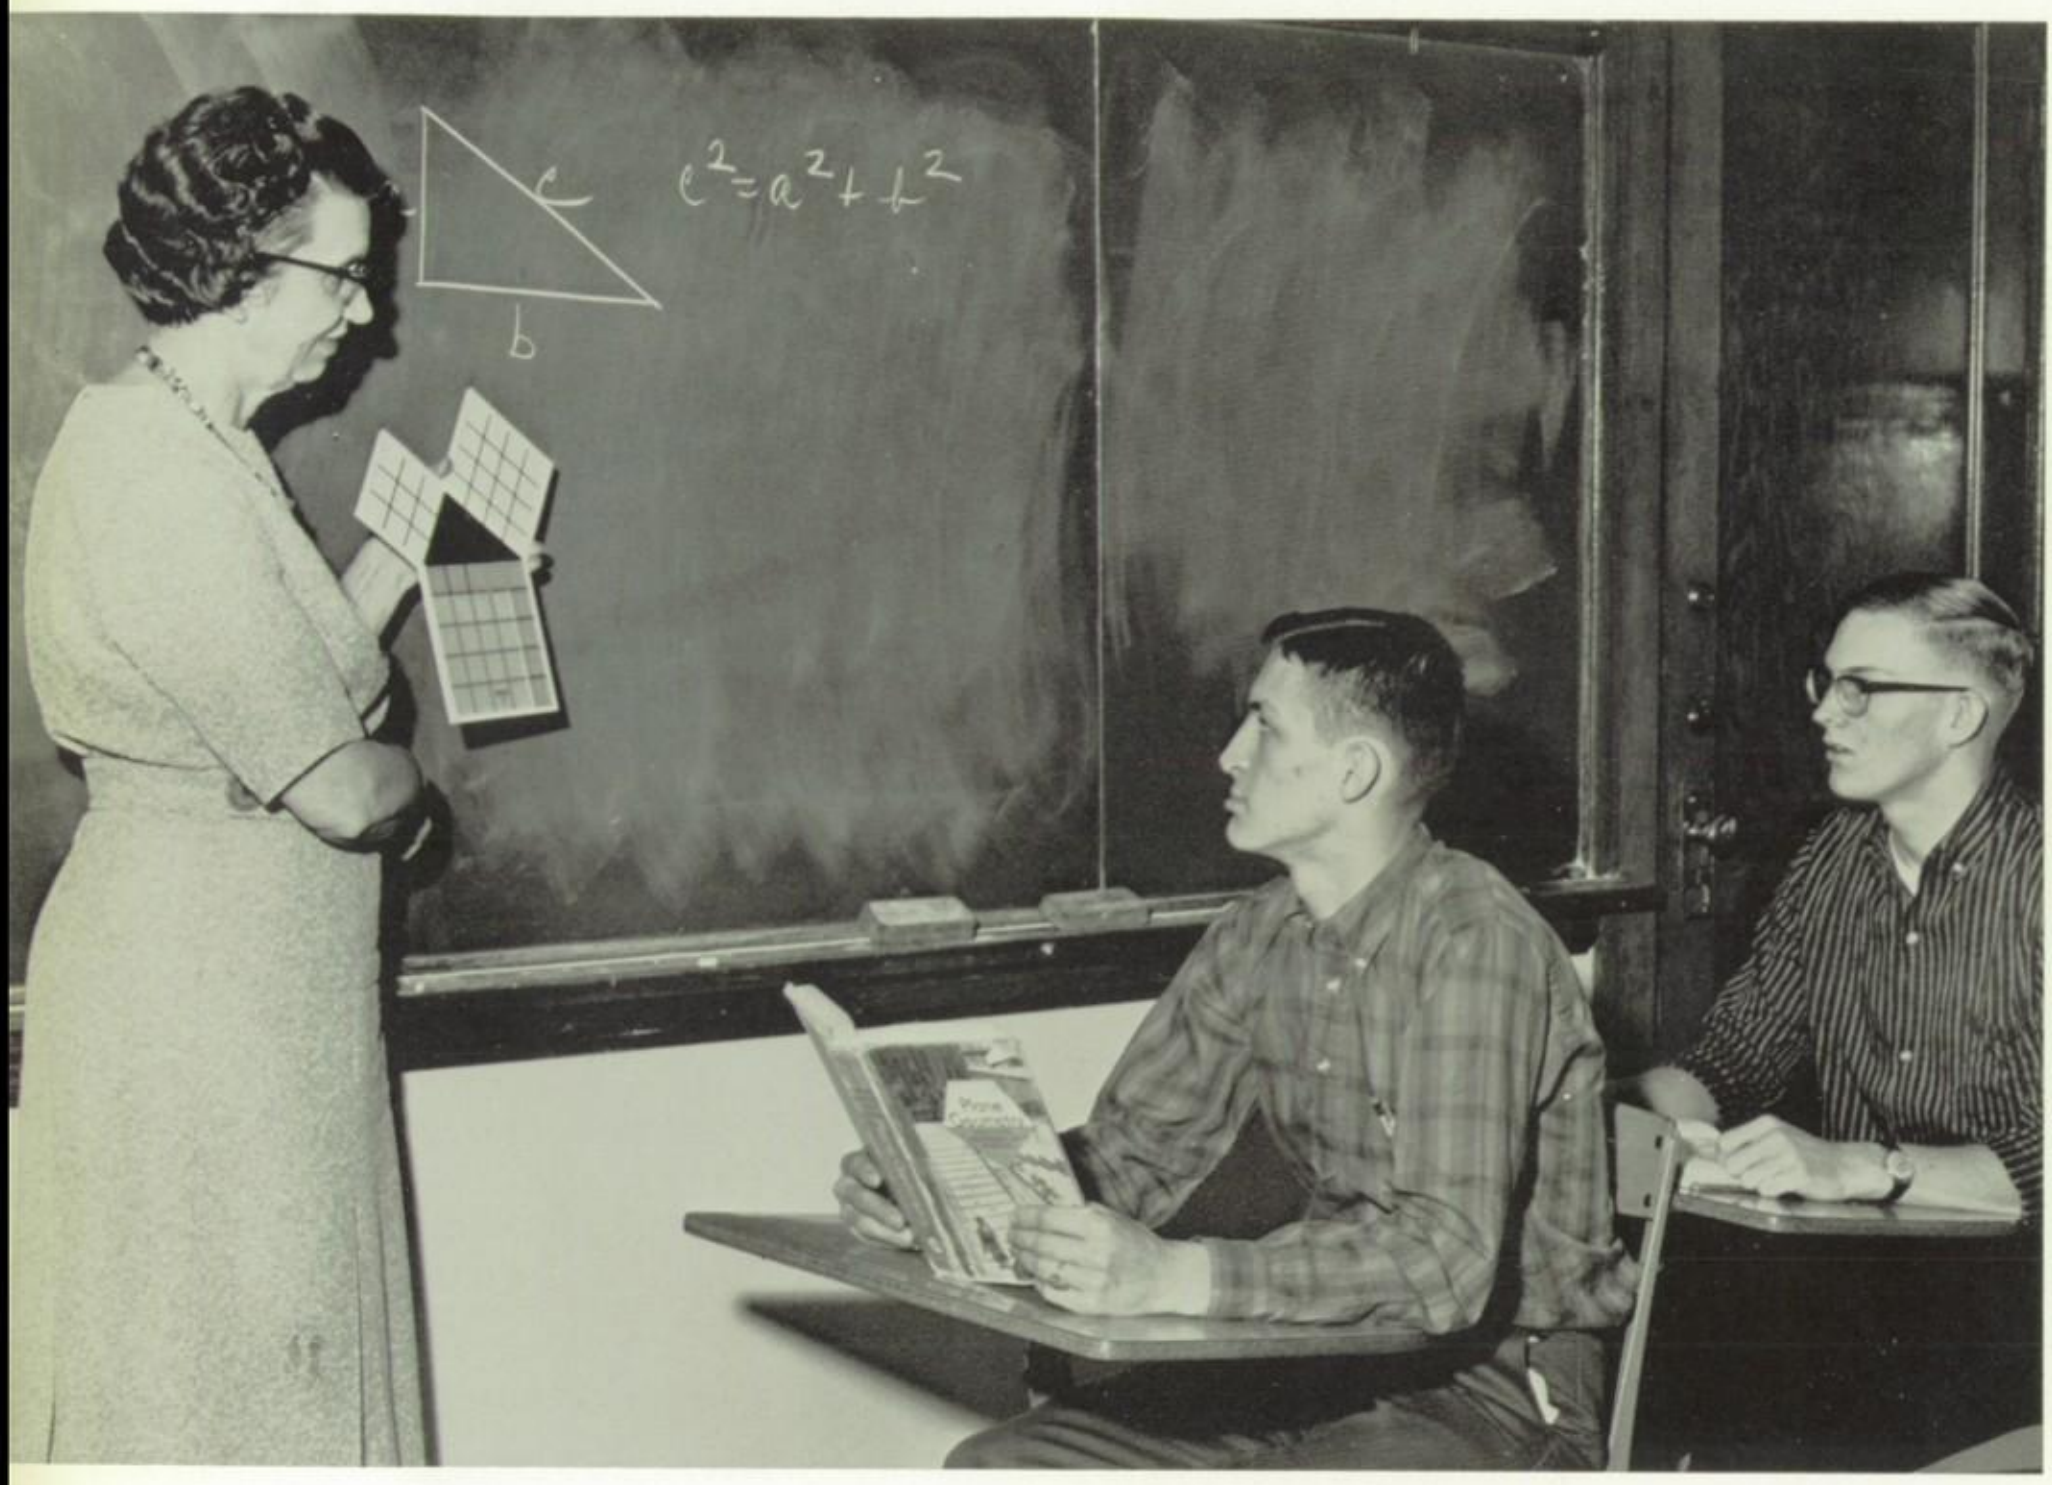
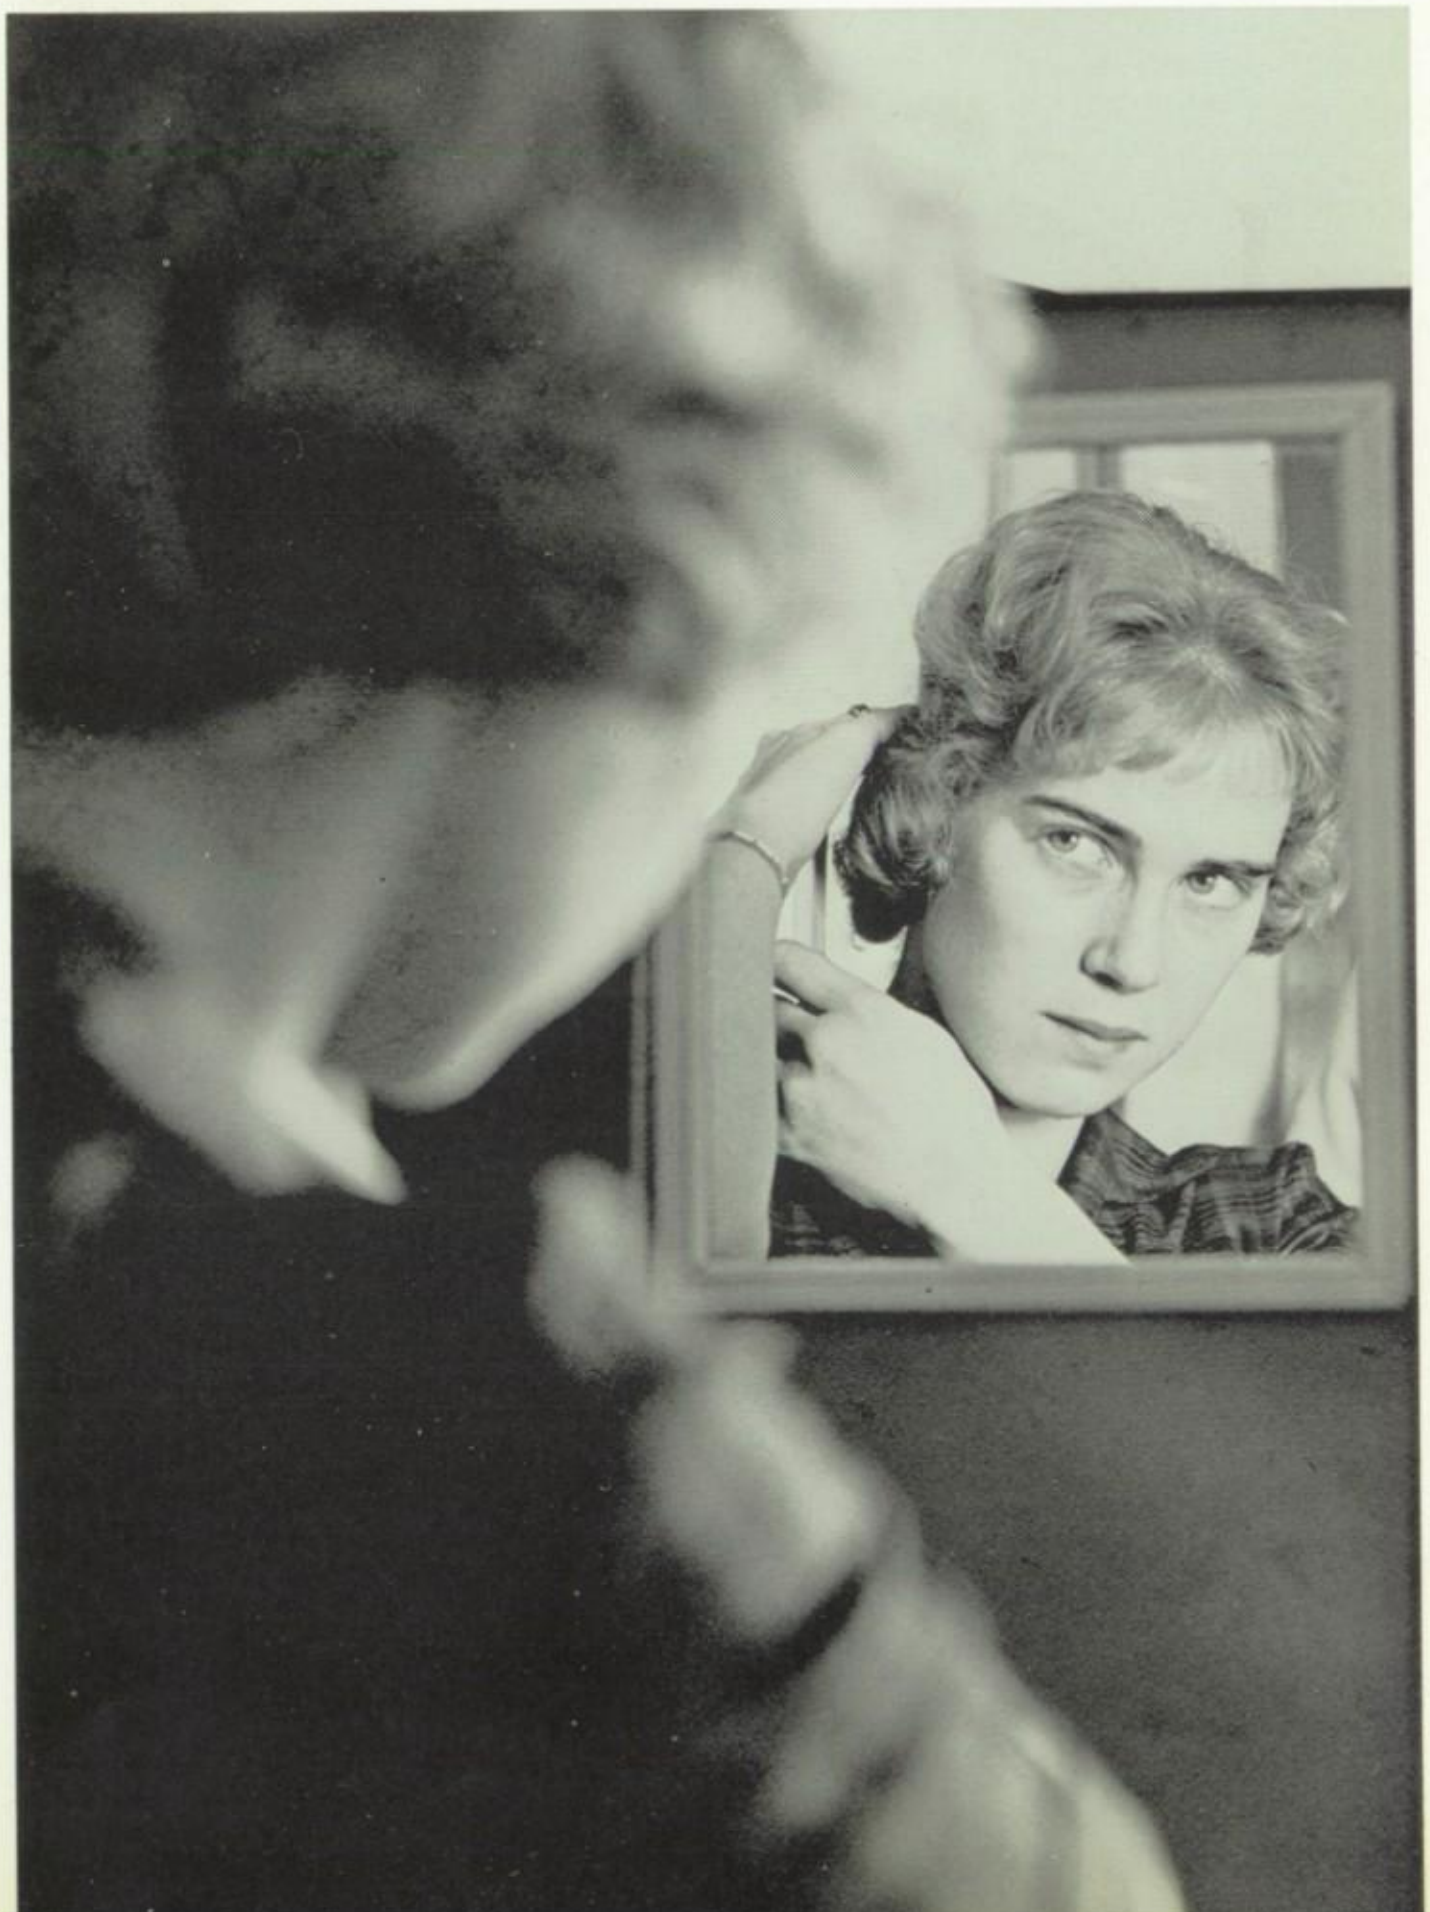
PERSONNEL



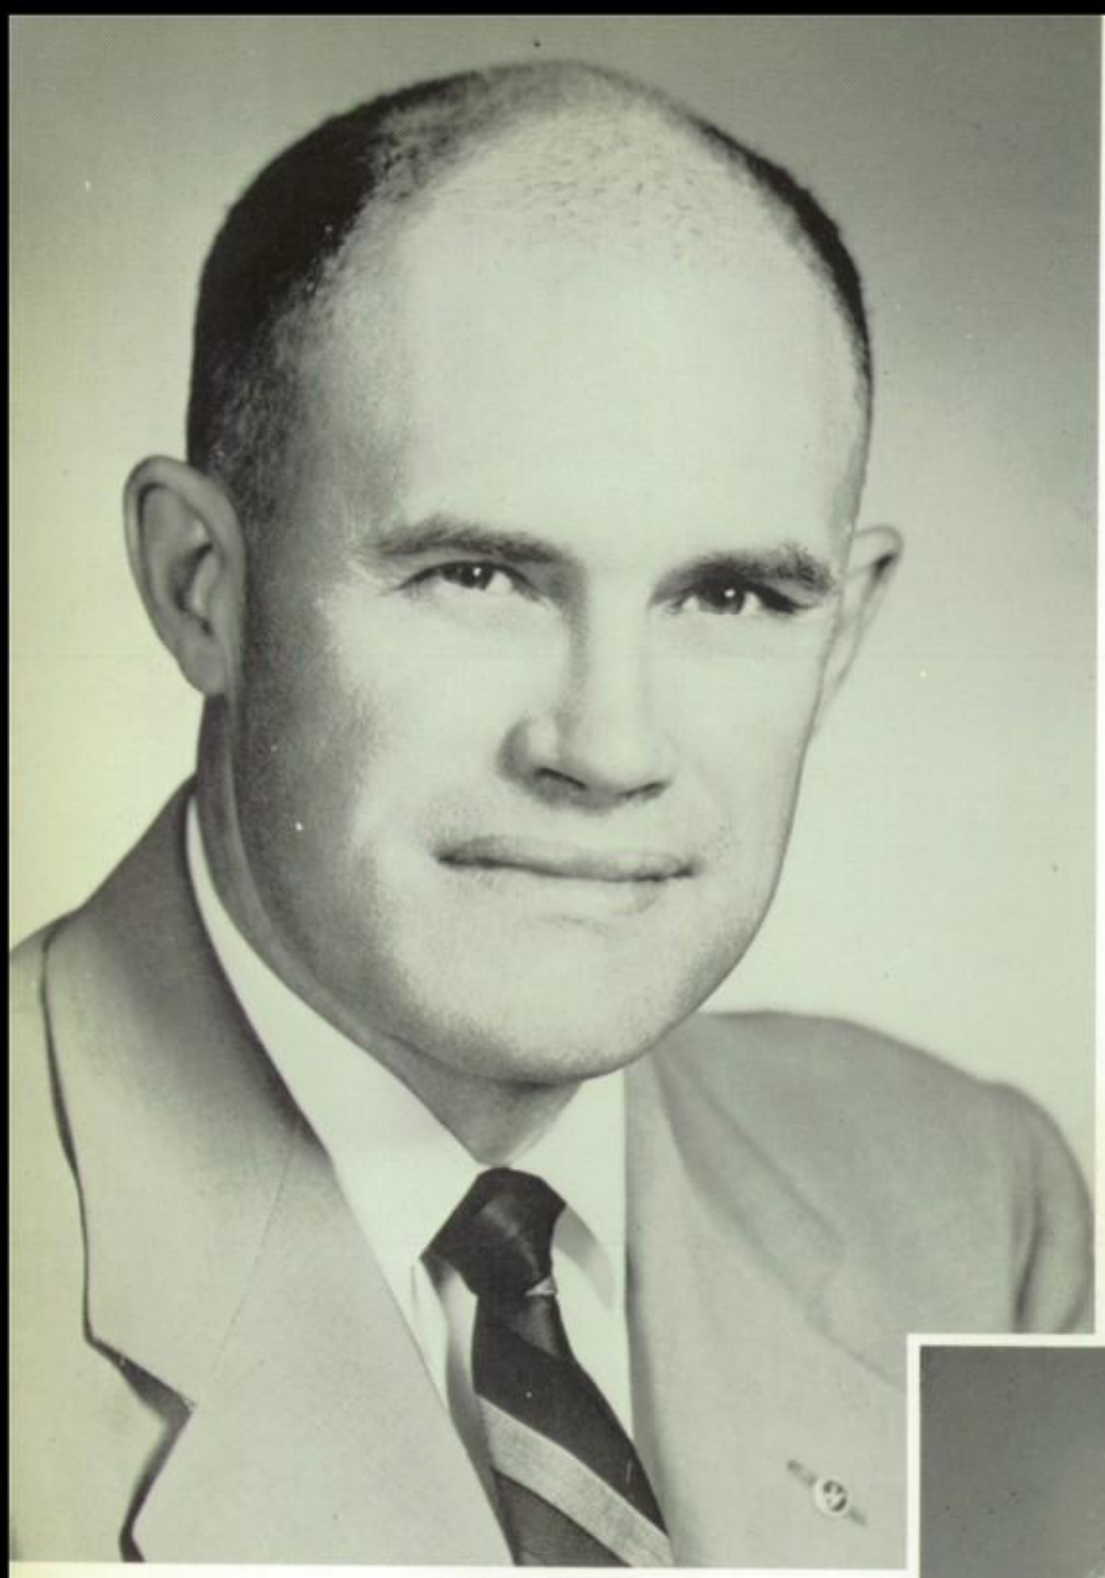
In our cascade of reflections, we catch a glimmer of the many people who contributed to the development of our student body. Included in this number are the administrators, board of education, secretaries, cooks, janitors, and bus drivers. Most important are the teachers who stimulated our minds. We students have acquired skills, knowledge and accomplishments that would have been impossible without the guidance and understanding of our teachers.

STUDENTS

The sharpest reflections we see are those of the faces and personalities of our friends. How can we forget the many hours we spent with our friends, talking, laughing, working and studying? It is amazing how well we learned to know each other's thoughts and actions, and how many times our desires and goals were the same as those of our close friends. Our friendships are precious, always to be remembered and treasured.



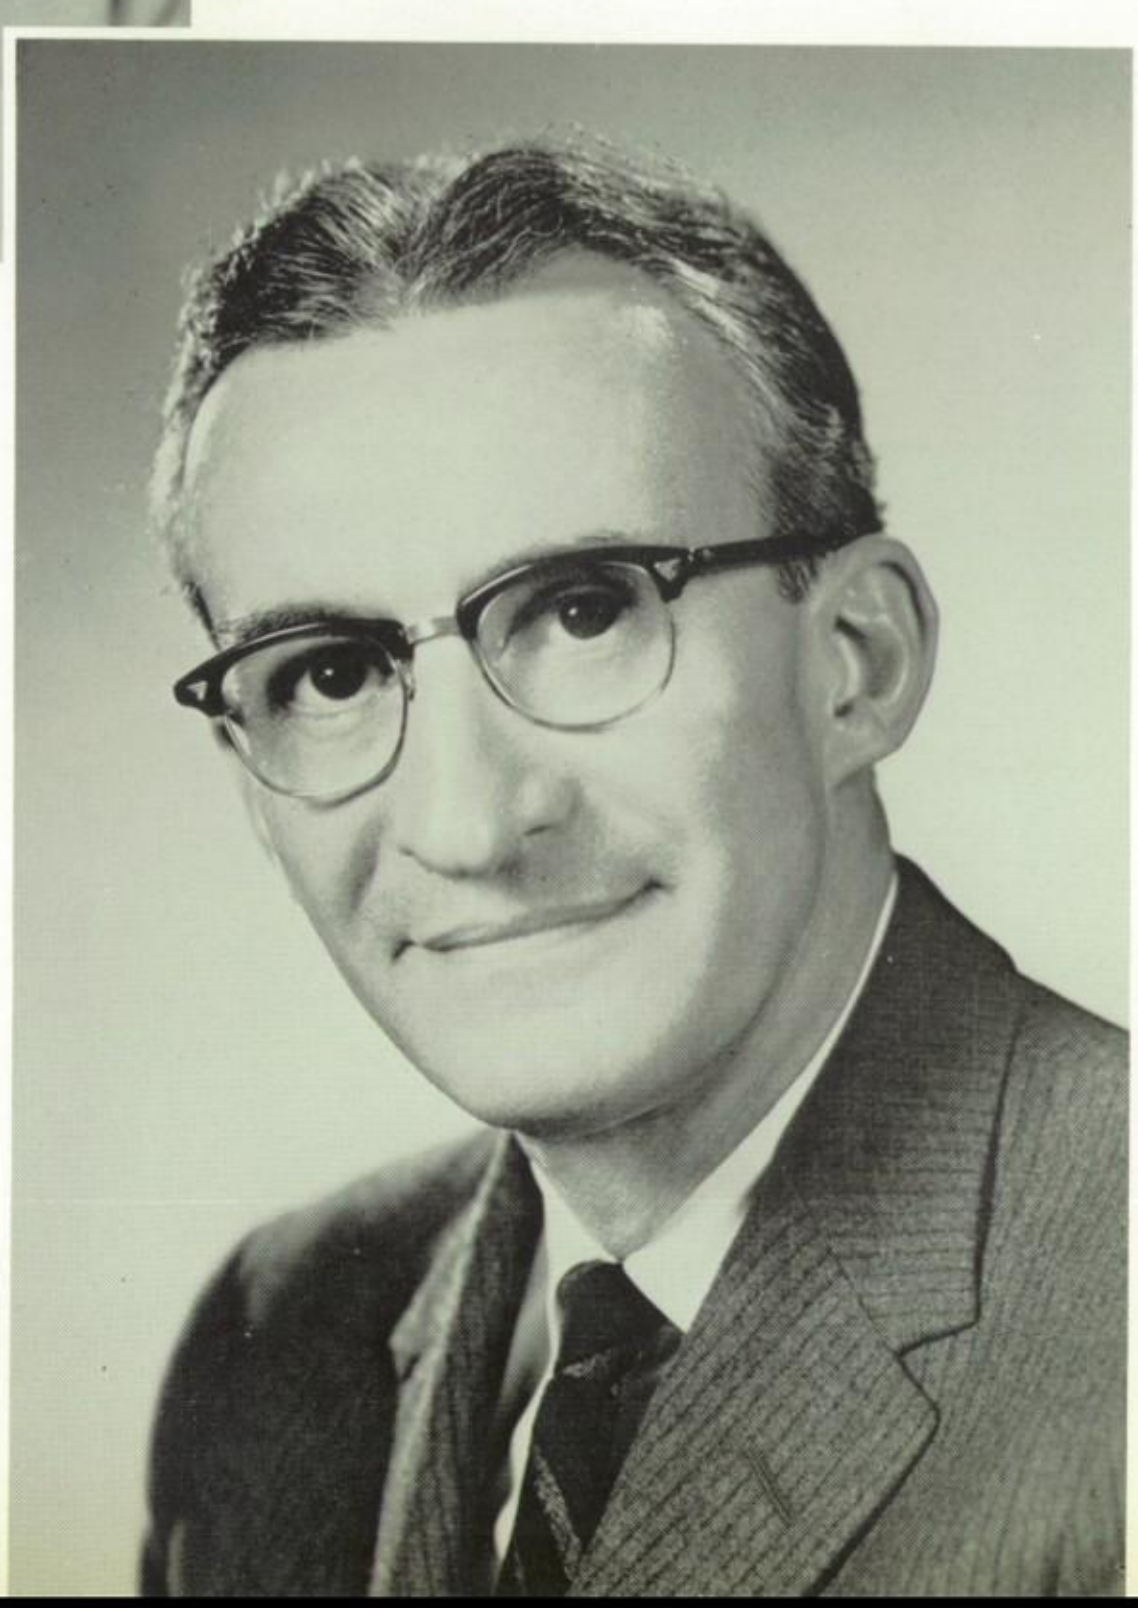
Administrators



RAY MILLS, JR.
Superintendent of Schools

Supt. Mills graduated from a two-year training course in education at Alfred Holbrook College and received his B. S. from Wilmington College. He received his M. A. from Miami University.

Many advancements have been made in the four years that Mr. Mills has been superintendent, the greatest of which is the erection of a new high school which is now under construction and is to be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1964.



D. C. NICHOLSON
High School Principal

Prin. Nicholson has completed twenty-two years of service for the Mount Gilead Schools, ten of which he has been principal.

He received his A. B. and M. Ed. degrees from Ohio University.

Much of the smooth operation of the school can be attributed to his well-planned program.

Teachers Association and PTA active in local education

1962-63 officers of the Mount Gilead Teachers Association pictured above are James D. Miller, president, Josephine Gerhardt, vice president, Kathryn Halfhill, secretary, and Kathryn Wieland, treasurer. The organization holds monthly meetings and furthers good teaching relations with the administration and the community.

At left PTA officers during the past year were—SEATED: William Wood, president, and Harley Hanna, treasurer. STANDING: Mrs. David Hickson, vice president, and Mrs. George Dix, secretary.

The month of February brought tragedy to the class as death, without warning and in different forms, claimed the lives of two of its members within the short span of four days. Pam's young life ceased on Thursday, February 21, and Kim's came to an end on Sunday, February 24.

Their absence will constantly remind their many friends and classmates that death, frequently enigmatic, prevented these young lives from realizing fulfillment.

ORGANIZATIONS

Difficult to foresee in a clear reflection were the understanding of human nature and the leadership we have learned through our membership and active participation in the various organizations. Nevertheless, as we will realize later in life, these reflections are important. As we took part in the activities of a club with others who shared the same interest, we built our character and developed more interesting personalities in addition to the fun and enjoyment which accompanied the time and effort we devoted to the organization.

ACTIVITIES

Our reflections shimmer with the sound of music. Whether we strutted in the marching band or sang in the choir, the music from our high school days will never fade away. The Christmas Concert, the Winter Concert, and the Spring Formal Concert were highlights of the year. Singing for assemblies and participating in ensembles added to our wealth of musical pleasure. The long hours of practice were richly rewarded.

Mizpah staff

Left—This picture of the editor is not a true one since most of the work connected with production of an annual is not that pleasant. There are usually too many horizontal pictures, not enough copy, too few pictures, etc. However, Charlotte does seem very pleased with the pictures she's working with in this layout.

Below—Even the cameraman gets caught once in awhile. Dave was so sure that there was no picture of him for the annual. He found out there are always solutions to problems.

Reflecting from our trophy case are the numerous awards earned by our athletic teams. This school year of 1962-63 has been especially noteworthy, as we earned three championships and established league as well as school records. The teamwork and sportsmanship displayed by our players and cheerleaders contributed much to make our school one to be admired. Team members will never forget the fun, work, satisfaction, accomplishment and pride gained through sports endeavors.

ATHLETICS

Important as the players in a sports event are the spectators who cheer the team to victory. Our reflections reveal the faces in the crowds, tense and excited, jumping and yelling, living each movement with the players on the field or in the gymnasium. Athletics constitute an important part of our school year, since they strengthen school spirit and loyalty.

SPECIAL

At certain times of the year, our dreams were filled with reflections of special events which were soon to become realities. Whisperings of who was going with whom, what to wear, hair styles, and cars were common. Those special events are now among our favorite reflections, never to be forgotten. Whether it was Homecoming on a brisk fall evening, or the Prom with white coats and formals, these reflections are dear to our hearts.

EVENTS

Not only do we notice the beautiful reflections from our special occasions, but also the hard work that was required for the success of each event. Committee meetings, telephone calls, cutting and pasting, covering card tables, stuffing paper, and an endless number of details were an integral part of the weeks preceding our special events, making them more memorable. These moments from our collection of reflections shine still brightly.

Senior beauties reign at Homecoming

MISS LYNN McCLELLAND

Vivacious, strawberry blonde Sharon Curl, a senior cheerleader, was selected by members of the football team to reign over Homecoming festivities.

Sharon, whose effervescent personality has brought her many friends, is president of Y-Teens, performed so capably in Thespian plays, and is a member of choir and band.

Blonde, blue-eyed Lynn McClelland, and blue-eyed brownette, Linda Furniss were selected to attend the queen. Lynn was active in Thespians and Y-Teens. Linda, a cheerleader for four years is an active Y-Teen member also.

The evening was complete with a victory (28-16) over Big Walnut and a dance with students and grads.

School life kept

us busy doing many things

Right—Our faithful Dennis was always ready to open the door for students and teachers alike, no matter what the weather might be.

Below, center—Mrs. Clouse should be the one who is getting the sling job, instead of Janet McPeek and Judy Schrack, who are being instructed.

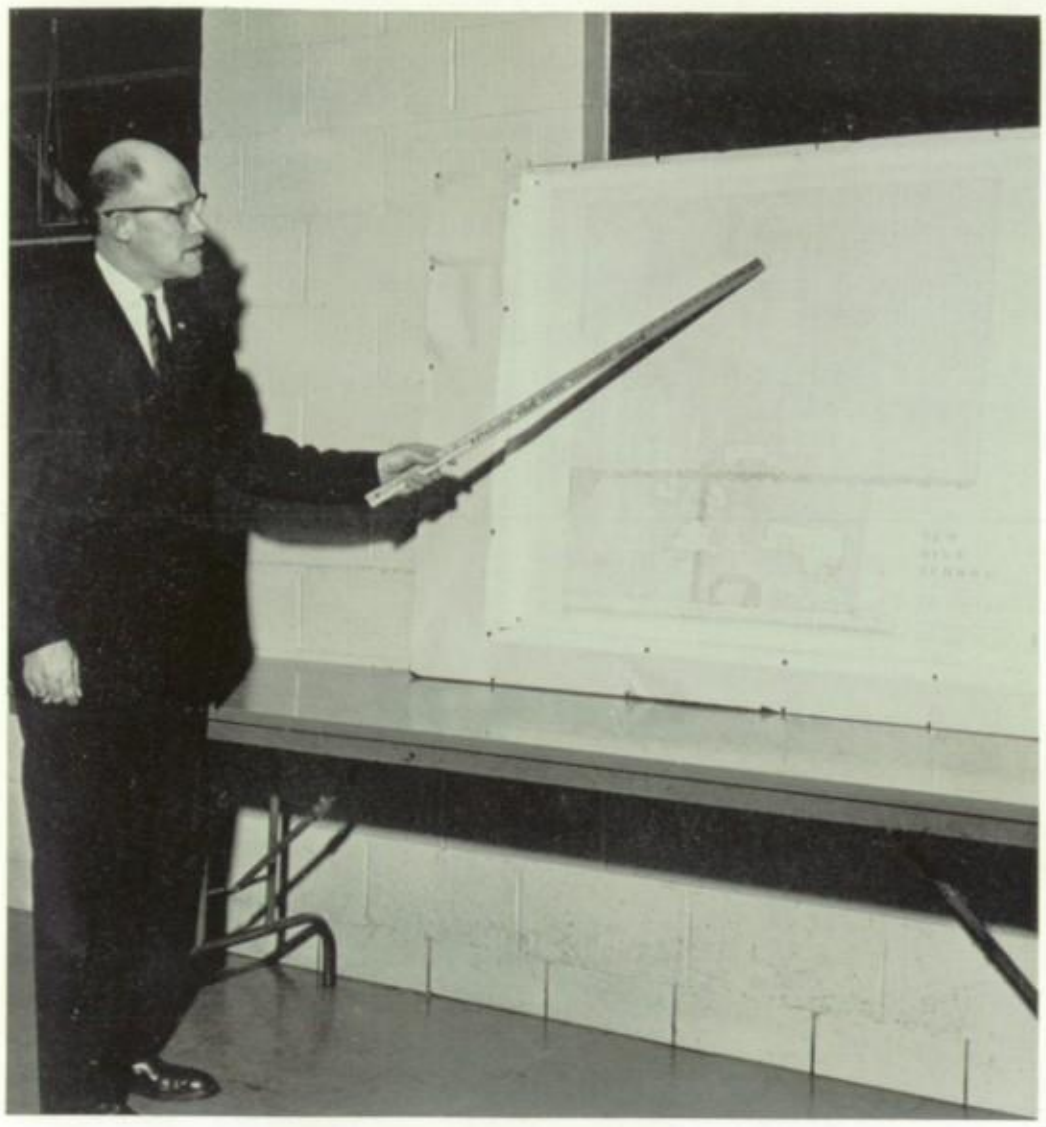
Bottom right—Leave it to Linda Kline to try to make a skirt of anything. Mrs. Knachel and sophomores are busy making shakers for sports events.

Building construction, concerts, plays,

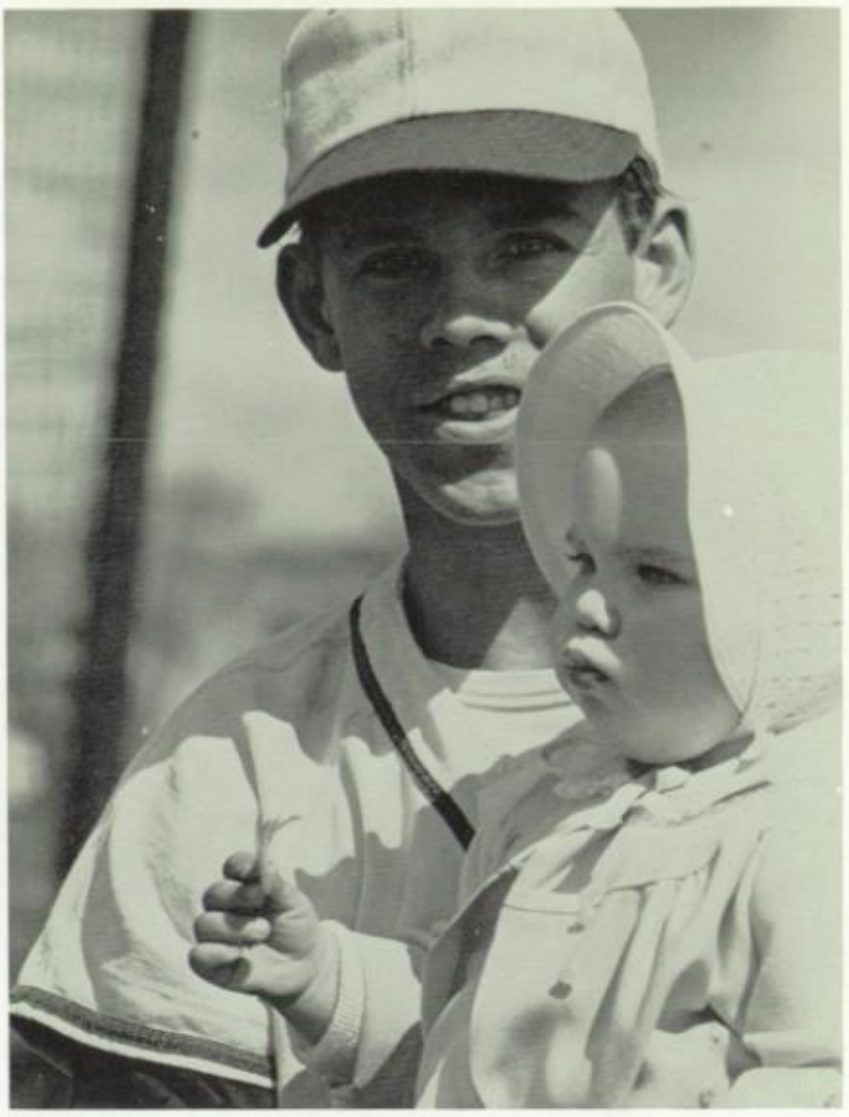


Left—Mr. Mills points to future site of the new football field at the new high school, while below he and Mr. Gladden view the first bricks for new buildings.

Bottom—Marjorie Heacock explains about saddles during a speech class session.

Below—Linda Carpenter and Joan Honaker are very, very, very busy pasting paper for the backdrop for the Formal Spring Concert.

baseball, car washes — time-consumers



Right—Ray Conley finds out that even though he wears a baseball uniform, there are other duties he must perform such as baby-sitting with the Coach's daughter.

Below left—Pam Geyer posts one of the many posters that cheerleaders made for furthering school spirit before games.

Bottom left—Ginny Wieland has been snitching on play practice by studying on the side and here she finally got caught.

Photographed in Action

Below—Dixie Giffith finds a quiet niche in the auditorium and proceeds to study.
